

Welcome to Medicine

June 2024

We are delighted that you have chosen to study medicine at St Andrews, and we look forward to both welcoming and meeting with you in September.

We find that students often share the same concerns and ask similar questions about beginning their time at the School of Medicine. Our Flying Start website addresses these common issues and provides a 'to do list' which will help you plan for your arrival and will ensure that you complete some essential tasks. You should check the Flying Start website periodically as it will be updated with new information throughout the summer. At the beginning of September you will be given web access to Galen (our online curriculum management system) where you will be able to view your Semester 1 timetable.

Orientation Week for Medical Students

The University, the Students' Association, Student Societies, the Halls of Residence and the Athletic Union organise an extensive programme of social and academic activities for all students during Orientation Week. You will find the details on the New Undergraduate Students page for Medicine and this will guide you through what you should do and when to do it. It aims to make the registration process as well as beginning your life as a student of the University of St Andrews run smoothly. The University Orientation information includes an Orientation App which will detail information for 2024 entrants.

In addition to these University events, the School of Medicine organises a programme during Orientation Week specifically tailored to meet the needs of new medical students. You will meet new colleagues and your clinical skills group, you will hear from some key staff and senior students and be given lots of useful advice to help you prepare for the beginning of your course. A tour of the building will also be provided to help you orientate yourself within the School building. In August we'll provide you with a pre-arrival video to help you prepare for Orientation Week.

On the Flying Start web site you will find advice relating to:

- Disclosure and Professionalism – you will complete an online Disclosure Scotland Protecting Vulnerable Groups (PVG) Scheme application when your offer goes unconditional firm. You are asked to send 3 forms of ID to medpvg@st-andrews.ac.uk during the summer, details on this are included on Flying Start.
- Recommended Textbooks - information about the text books that have been selected to support your learning.
- Stethoscopes, Pocket Masks, Protective Glasses and Laboratory White Coats - which type to get and how/where to buy them. These are essential items for the course required from Week 1. The School will provide any additional Personal Protective Equipment (PPE), should it be required for teaching purposes.
- Clinical skills dress code - some hints and tips to make sure you have some appropriate clothes and footwear for clinical skills teaching and clinical placements.
- Computers - important advice about computers and information about connecting your computer to the University network.

- BSc Professionalism Agreement captures the School's expectations of medical students in an agreement form. All students should be familiar with it before they arrive and must agree to follow the guidance and values expressed within it. You will have the opportunity to ask questions during orientation week about the agreement. The 2024-25 version will be uploaded over the summer.
- A link to the School's handbook - this summarises key information about the University of St Andrews, the School of Medicine and the first year modules. This is an important resource and you should be familiar with it before coming to St Andrews. It includes relevant policies on:-
  - University disability advice website
  - The School policy for pregnancy & maternity / parental leave guidelines
- St Andrews Medic Freshers' social media - this will be run by students from the School of Medicine. This is a first point of contact with your new peers and a forum for informal chat about life as a medical student. Links can be found on Flying Start. The Bute Medical Society can be found on social media (Butemed Soc on Facebook and Instagram as @ButeMedics).

General questions relating to the course should be sent to the Curriculum Support Group on md2000@st-andrews.ac.uk Queries regarding fees, visas etc should be sent via the University's ask a question

If your contact email address will change from an education email address over the summer, please ensure you update UCAS, My Application at University of St Andrews and medadmiss@st-andrews.ac.uk accordingly.

Once again, we are looking forward to meeting and working with you in September and wish you a safe journey to St Andrews.
